Another family that attended Yavapai College is the Guethle family. We heard from Rae-Ann Harris (Guethle) who now lives in Arlington, Texas.

She writes: "I went on to become Registered Dental Hygienist. I worked as a hygienist on Saturdays and I worked for AT&T Monday through Friday. I retired from AT&T after 30 years of service December 4, 2007.

I was very shy in high school and missed out on a lot, so I became involved in college life. I was on the drill team both years and also served as student body secretary/treasurer. I loved Yavapai College because of being so involved in activities on the campus. Also I met my future husband Michael when he serenaded a group of girls at YC with his guitar.

My link to Yavapai now is my sister who is on the staff: Linda Hoffman. I am very proud of her. I also have a niece and nephew that graduated from YC: Nicole and Andrew Hoffman."

Nicole Hoffman graduated from Yavapai College in December 2003. She went on to attend NAU and graduated in December 2006 with a double major: Public Relations and Advertising. She now works with NAU Television Services. Andrew Hoffman graduated with honors from Yavapai College in May 2008 and is currently attending NAU in the AJS Program. His goal is to graduate from NAU in 2.5 years and serve as a Police Officer in the State of Arizona.

Linda Hoffman shared that she and Rae Ann also have another sister, Darlene Evans (Guethle) who attended Prescott High School, then moved to Phoenix and graduated from Paradise Valley High School. Darlene graduated from the University of AZ with a BS in Nursing, and later taught with the Nursing Division at Yavapai College from mid 80's to early 90's. Darlene currently lives in Chino Valley.
