How Long is Too Long?

Posted July 14, 2014 By Thatcher Bohrman

Say "Videos have to be 5 minutes or less", then repeat that to your friends and coworkers. They will no doubt agree, or suggest that really it has to be 3 minutes or less, or even, in marketing circles, 1 minute or less. I agree, too. Unless it's an educational thing, then you can wiggle a bit. In fact, wiggle a lot, on the couch or in a comfortable chair even, if that what it takes to settle in and enjoy video over 5 minutes long.

Caveat: I am old by some definitions, born in 1969. Still, my attention span isn't that great sometimes, either. That said, I think we all, generation gaps be damned, should slow down and enjoy the video, even the 20+ minute ones. If it's for the sake of

VISION

Recognized as the Verde Valley's voice for constructive and collaborative dialog between residents and the Yavapai College District Governing Board to promote improved access to quality higher education

We ensure the citizens of the Verde Valley have a forum by which their voices are heard regarding their educational needs and concerns. Based on accurate and reliable data and input from citizens, we perform careful analysis as the basis for advice we present. We seek input from the array of communities in the Verde Valley: young and old; public and private; businesses and non-profits. Integrity

We never compromise our integrity. Having integrity means more than simply the absence of deception. We tell the truth, honor our commitments, adhere to ethical standards, treat others with respect and act responsibly. We do the right thing because it is the right thing to do.

Teamwork

We practice teamwork through such actions as assisting each other, providing each other feedback, exchanging information, and executing our tasks in a timely and integrated manner. We recognize that we make better decisions and produce better results together than working alone. Consensus and coherence are key to our approach. We speak with one voice once the group makes a decision.

Accountability

We honor our commitments and take responsibility for our actions.

Leadership

As citizen leaders we lead by example. We foster an environment that empowers and motivates others to successfully accomplish their objectives. We mentor and develop each other and our peers.

Service

We commit ourselves not only to meeting expectations, but to exceeding them. We recognize that our citizens are the most important judges of the quality of the processes, advice, and analysis we provide. We are faithful servants.

Stewardship

We strive to make the best use of resources within our control and to support others in doing the same. We recognize that we are caretakers of these resources.
